INSTRUCTOR:	COURSE NAME:	INTRODUCTION TO THE EUROPEAN UNION
OFFICE: PHONE :	SECTION: 01	CREDITS: 3
E-MAILS:

COURSE FORMAT:

Three hours of class time plus an additional hour delivered through on-line or other activities for a 15 weeks semester, which includes two weeks for final revision of written assignments.

COURSE PREREQUISITES:

None.

Note: Students who receive credit for POL 209 cannot receive credit for POL 309.

COURSE LEARNING OUTCOMES:

General: The student learns the history, structure and activity of the European Union, being a significant regional inter-governmental organization as well as an unprecedented form of governance, in our increasingly globalized political environment. Students explore the structure, institutions and operations of the European Union from the perspective of the individual state members, the institutional EU as a whole, and from the viewpoint of international organizations and non-member states (with particular emphasis on EU-Canada relations). Students also learn about other European institutions and their relationship to the European Union and the theory and practice of European integration.

Instructional: Upon successful completion of this course, a student will be able to:

- Recognize and understand the basic concepts and terms associated with academic work on the European Union.
- Recognize, identify and explain the character and purpose of major institutions of the European Union and their activities.
- Recognize and apply the major theories which explain the evolution, existence and operation of the European Union.
- Recognize and explain the relationships and interactions between member states and the European Union and other non-member states and the European Union.
- Recognise and discuss the challenges and potential limits of enlargement.
- Demonstrate skills in research and analysis of primary and secondary materials.
- Demonstrate written and oral communication skills in assignments and other work which focuses on problems and issues of the European Union.
- Recognize and articulate the relationship of the study of regional intergovernmental organizations to the discipline of political studies and other social sciences;
- Apply the learning to a variety of issues and problems which demonstrates understanding of the subject matter.

REQUIRED TEXTS:

Edited by Michelle Cini and Nieves Perez-SolorzanoBorragan (editors). European Union Politics (4th edition, Oxford: 2013)

Supplementary readings supplied by instructor

RECOMMENDED READINGS:

- PDF guides available in The Writing Centre at Capilano University (Fir 402, <http://www.capilanou.ca/writing-centre/>)
- The Capilano University Guide to Writing (available in bookstore).
- Scott, G. The Political Science Student Writer's Manual. New Jersey: Prentice Hall, current. (On reserve in the Library).
- Roselle, Laura and Spray, Sharon. Research and Writing in International Relations. Pearson Longman, 2008. (On reserve in the Library).
- Heckman, Grant. Nelson Guide to Web Research for Canadian Students. Nelson, 2008. (On reserve in the Library).

Students are encouraged to read relevant articles in a daily newspaper, periodical, or on-line publication such as: The Globe and Mail, The National Post, The New York Times, The Manchester Guardian, Le Monde or Le Monde Diplomatique, The Economist, BBC World, Deutsche Welle. Students are reminded that most sources exercise significant biases in the selection of news and information and in commentary on events. All students are required to become familiar with the European Union web site <http://europa.eu/> and visit it as requested. A list of news sources focused on the EU will be distributed to the class.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

Each student completes the following assignments:

1. RESEARCH PAPER. A written 'diplomatic brief' of an EU Member State and its role and relations within the European Union.
2. RESEARCH PAPER AND GROUP SEMINAR. A research paper on an on-going issue written from the perspective of an EU member state (e.g. enlargement, fiscal policy etc.), followed by a group presentation and seminar discussion of selected issues. Essay and seminar participation are components of the assignment for which there is a grade.
3. POSITION PAPER AND MODEL EU. Acting as an EU Council of Ministers, students will be presented with a topical issue of relevance for the EU as a whole (examples: EU-Russia relations; free trade with Canada; Turkish accession; the Bologna Process; Arctic sovereignty, Climate negotiations, illegal immigration; etc.) Each student will produce a position paper on the issue, from the perspective of their Member State. They will then participate in a Model EU Council, to discuss the issue and try to generate an outcome that is satisfactory for the EU as a whole.

4. PARTICIPATION is worth 10% of the total grade; with 7% for attendance and 3% for participation in questions and answers. Two absences result in 1% reduction in percentage up to 7% in total.
